Spacewalk Champ Has Little Trouble

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Spacewalk champion Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. thrust head and shoulders out of a Gemini 12 door today and coolly clicked pictures of the sunrise, Milky Way and Earth — the last adventure by a U.S. astronaut outside a spaceship until 1968.

The photo session — most of which was performed out of range from earth tracking stations with a minimum of conversation heard on the ground — lasted slightly longer than the 40 minutes originally planned.

"How did the photography go," flight controllers asked the pilots after Aldrin returned inside.

"It was a little difficult to get shots of the sunrise," said Aldrin. "They were kind of back-handed shots around behind and underneath the hatch-closing device."

"We ended up taking all the frames on the UV (ultraviolet) film, and I think we ought to get some pretty good pictures out of it," he continued.

It was the first time three work sessions were performed outside the spacecraft on a single flight.

Lovell had to overcome maneuvering problems during the "space stand" caused by two spacecraft thrusters not working. Later, a third steering rocket also apparently went dead, Lovell reported. There are 16 maneuvering jets altogether.

"We've got a little leg room here for a change," command pilot James A. Lovell Jr. said, referring to the fact that Aldrin had dumped unneeded equipment overboard while the hatch was open.

"Keep space clean," mission control center said.

"NORAD will have a fit keeping track of all those bits and pieces," Lovell quipped. NORAD is the North American

Five Killed On Highways On Weekend

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Five persons were killed in traffic accidents in Missouri over the weekend.

Bill H. Luckenby, 17, of Rt. 1, Ava, Mo., was injured fatally Saturday evening in the collision of a car and a freight train at a crossing at Diggins, in Webster County.

The driver of the car, Lawrence C. Hampton, 19, of Rt. 3, Ava, was reported in critical condition at a Springfield hospital.

Glenn Newton, 10, Kansas City, died in a hospital Sunday night two hours after he was struck by a car on a city street. The driver, Mrs. Hazel Zacharie, told police the boy was playing under a street light.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Newton.

Mrs. Mary Beth Cope, 38, Dittmer, Mo., was killed Saturday night in an accident on Missouri 30 near Cedar Hill.

The highway patrol said Mrs. Cope's car was struck by another auto and pushed into a pickup truck. Troopers said the brakes on a car driven by George Edwards, 51, of Cedar Hill, failed as he approached the highway from a side road. Edwards was treated for facial cuts. The truck driver was not injured.

Terry Bartlett, 11, Independence, Mo., was killed Saturday in a one-car accident in Kansas City. Several others in the car were injured when it overturned in the eastern part of the city.

Raymond C. Hutchison, rural Eldorado Springs, Mo., was killed Friday night when his car hit a culvert at the south edge of that community on Missouri 32.

Three persons were killed in traffic accidents in Kansas over the weekend.

Rests Case In Sheppard Trial Today

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The defense rested its case in the Samuel H. Sheppard murder retrial today without putting the 42-year-old defendant on the stand.

Sheppard testified for three days during his first trial.

The end of the defense presentation, begun last Wednesday, came abruptly at the lunchtime recess. The trial is beginning its fourth week, although selection of a jury took from Oct. 24 through Oct. 31.

Dr. Charles Elkins of Tucson, Ariz., was on the stand most of the morning and told of examining the defendant a few hours after Sheppard's first wife, Marilyn, was murdered on July 4, 1954. He said "it would have been most difficult" for Sheppard to have inflicted on himself the injuries Elkins found that morning.

Elkins said when he examined Sheppard at Bay View Hospital a few hours after the slaying of Marilyn Sheppard, he found "absence of reflexes, on the left side primarily."

"I thought there was a small chip fracture discernible on X-rays," taken July 4 and inspected by Elkins July 6, he testified.

Elkins denied telling Coroner Samuel R. Gerber he found nothing wrong with Sheppard. Gerber testified a week ago that Elkins told him "he didn't think Sheppard was badly hurt . . . he told me very definitely this man was not hurt."

A month after the slaying Elkins said he examined Sheppard again at Cuyahoga County Jail.

"I believe his reflexes had now returned. I sort of changed my mind. I thought it might have been a concussion rather than a contusion because of the rapidity of recovery." A contusion is more serious, Elkins explained.

F. Lee Bailey, chief defense counsel, asked Elkins whether Sheppard's injuries could have been self-inflicted.

"I think it would be most difficult for an individual to self-inflict this type of injury," Elkins replied.

"Can you tell us what happens or may happen when a person is knocked unconscious by a blow at the base of the skull as to memory of events immediately preceding a concussion injury?" Bailey asked.

"An individual knocked unconscious . . . may have the foggiest memory of events preceding the injury and, in fact, may never recall events preceding the injury," Elkins answered.

Sheppard has said the slayer of his wife twice knocked him unconscious.

Youth Injured In a Hunting Accident Here

Eight-year-old Vernon Poort, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Poort, Route 3, is in satisfactory condition at Bothwell Hospital following a hunting accident on the Poort farm Sunday.

Hospital officials report the boy suffered wounds from shotgun pellets in the neck, chest and left eye. He was taken into surgery late Sunday and treated by Drs. Robert Glass, T. J. Hopkins and Joseph Bennett.

The boy's father, Robert Poort, told The Democrat-Capital Monday that he was quail hunting with his son and Ralph Coan, pastor of the RLDS Church, when the accident occurred. He said his son and Coan were about 60 yards away when a covey of quail arose. The covey flew to the right and circled around behind young Poort and Coan as Poort fired. Some of the shot struck the boy.

Recommend Increase In School Aid

COLUMBIA, Mo. (AP)—Gov. Warren E. Hearnes promised schoolmen today he would recommend another increase in state school aid to the 1967 legislature.

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Missouri Association of School Boards, the governor noted that he has recommended and the legislature has approved an extra $10 million each year for the school foundation program so far in his term.

He urged the educators to use "practical vision" to make the money go further.

Hearnes said "it is the state's responsibility and obligation to determine — in the interest of long run progress and prosperity — a minimum level of quality for all public elementary and secondary schools."

"A base or guideline must be set for those schools and it is the state's privilege and problem to make certain that no school falls below it."

He said the state cannot "allow laggard communities to stagger about as best they can, nor can it relegate to mediocrity those areas which simply are unable to pay good teachers and build good schools."

Hearnes recalled he had been interested in getting more money and improving the caliber of Missouri schools since he first entered the legislature in 1951.

'Farmer Not Subjected To Controls'

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman said today administration farm programs have not subjected the farmer to "a bewildering and unwanted array of federal controls."

In fact, Freeman said in a speech prepared for the opening session of the annual National Agricultural Outlook Conference, agriculture is "freer than it has been for 30 years."

In his first public speech since the congressional elections, Freeman said criticism "should not be permitted to obscure the fact that the American farmer is a free and independent businessman—not helplessly in the grip of a great government machinery that dictates his every action."

He said there are few controls today, that programs for most basic commodities now are voluntary and that even the few existing mandatory programs are approved by farmers year after year.

Freeman urged restraint by those who advocate lifting controls and getting rid of government programs now that major grain surpluses have been eliminated and cotton stocks are dropping to more manageable proportions.

"The basic potential for overproduction is unchanged," he said, because even after releasing up to 30 million acres for grain planting, there still remains almost that much acreage of previously diverted land.

"If this additional acreage were put back in production," he declared, "we'd be right back on the road to another heavy surplus buildup."

Freeman also denied "that we should drop all restraints and produce food to the maximum as long as there are hungry people anywhere in the world."

Mets President Quits, Bing Devine Named

NEW YORK (AP) — George Weiss retired Monday as president of the New York Mets and was replaced by Bing Devine, former general manager of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Weiss, longtime general manager for the New York Yankees who came to the Mets when they were formed for the 1962 season, thus ended a long executive career in baseball dating back to 1917.

Weiss will remain with the Mets in an advisory capacity until Dec. 31, 1971.

Devine, 49, came to the Mets from the Cardinals during the 1964 season as an assistant to the president, having been hand-picked by Weiss as his successor.

Big Bombers Strike Viets In Border Concentrations

North Viets Hit Company Of US Infantry Sunday

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—B52 bombers struck back today at North Vietnamese troops which inflicted heavy casualties on a U.S. infantry company near the Cambodian border.

The giant Stratoforts, in one of three raids, hammered at North Vietnamese concentrations 16 miles northwest of the Plei Djereng U.S. Special Forces camp. This was near the area where an estimated 500 North Vietnamese regulars attacked a company—178 men—of the U.S. 25th Infantry Division Sunday.

LBJ Views On Surgery Optimistic

Philosophical On Republican Election Gains

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson flew back to Washington from his Texas ranch today, optimistic about the surgery he faces Wednesday and philosophical about Republican election gains.

The big presidential jet transport touched down at nearby Andrews Air Force Base at 1:07 p.m., EST, after a flight of a little over 2½ hours from Randolph Air Force Base near San Antonio.

"I don't think the country is going to the dogs," Johnson told a news conference Sunday in the modernistic municipal center at Fredericksburg, 15 miles west of his Texas ranch.

Johnson announced he will enter the Naval Medical Center at Bethesda, Md., late Tuesday and be operated on there early Wednesday. Doctors will remove a growth from his throat and repair a hernia along the incision from his 1965 gall bladder-kidney stone surgery.

Saying the twin operations "will take perhaps less than an hour," Johnson predicted he would remain in the hospital "a very few days," then return to Texas to spend much of the time until Congress reconvenes Jan. 10.

Republicans made bigger gains in Tuesday's congressional election. But, after citing notable Republican support for administration measures in the past three years, the President concluded this did not mean the country was going to the dogs.

"I think that after an election, our motto is tested," he said. "We have to look at our weaknesses and try to patch them up, try to develop our strengths."

He forecast a more united Democratic party and a strengthened GOP.

A U.S. spokesman said the infantry company suffered heavy casualties in the initial Communist assault of a battle that lasted 1½ hours. He said 26 North Vietnamese were killed.

Elsewhere, only small and sporadic skirmishes were reported as the ground war lapsed into a lull. Over North Viet Nam, bad weather limited U.S. air blows again Sunday.

American pilots flew only 71 bombing missions, well below the daily average. The strikes all were in the southern portion of North Viet Nam and five missions hit at Communist positions inside the demilitarized zone.

The battle around the Plei Djereng Green Beret camp, 230 miles north of Saigon, was one of three clashes Sunday involving U.S. 25th division troops.

In the first, a company of infantrymen engaged a platoon of North Vietnamese 18 miles west of Plei Djereng and reported killing eight in a 25-minute fire fight. Two hours later, the same company engaged an enemy battalion in the biggest encounter of the day.

The North Vietnamese broke contact only after the U.S. force brought up ground reinforcements and called in air strikes and heavy artillery barrages.

Big Spring Inn Razed; One Killed

Others Registered In Famous Hotel Are Accounted For

NEOSHO, Mo. (AP) — One man burned to death early today in a fire that destroyed the Big Spring Inn, a landmark in this southwest Missouri city.

Officials said the victim had been identified but were withholding the name until relatives had been notified.

Officers said all others registered at the hotel had been accounted for.

Owners of the hotel estimated the loss at about $100,000.

Fireman Gary Metcalf and Highway Patrolman J. D. Perkins recovered the body of an unidentified man from the second floor of the two-story frame structure. Perkins suffered a groin injury in removing the body.

The blaze was discovered shortly before 2 a.m. Fire officials said it apparently started in the dining room area. The cause was unknown.

The hotel, erected in 1914, was located across the street from the city's Big Spring park, a picnic and recreational area with a large underground spring as its focal point.

Firemen said the structure was still burning at 4:30 a.m. and that the building would be a total loss.

Second Bomb Aboard Ship Is Disarmed

One Explodes, Kills Captain And Motorman

ASTORIA, Ore. (AP) — A second bomb found aboard an outbound Liberian wheat ship was disarmed today by a Navy demolition team. The first killed the captain and a motorman, and injured seven other crewmen.

The 533-foot tanker Grand Integrity anchored off this Columbia River port early today after turning back Sunday morning from 175 miles at sea with her dead and burned crew members.

Others of the 47 men aboard, all Chinese, feared other bombs were hidden on the ship. But a boarding party from the Coast Guard cutter Ivy and a Navy demolition team from Bangor, Wash., failed to find more.

The chief engineer, who speaks a little English, said it was not known how the bombs got aboard or why.

The Coast Guard boarding party said the two bombs were discovered Sunday morning hidden in the bilges of the engine room. The captain, Ho Lien-siu, was notified and ordered the bombs brought to the deck.

One exploded as he was preparing to photograph them.

The Coast Guard said one of the crew took the second bomb to the captain's cabin "to preserve the evidence."

The captain apparently took the full force of the explosion and died about four hours later. A motorman, Chiu Yungyi, failed to survive the return voyage here.

The blast did no damage to the ship. It blew a basketball-size dent in a hatch cover.

The injured men were transferred to an Astoria hospital as soon as the Grand Integrity reached port and anchored outside the shipping lanes as a precautionary measure in the event of other explosions.

Deer Kill Records Shattered

JEFFERSON CITY (AP) — Hunters killed a record-shattering 14,649 deer in the first two days of a seven-day gun season, the Conservation Commission reported today.

Sunday's total was 8,674, also a record. The Sunday harvest included 4,930 bucks and the rest does and fawns.

Texas County is the leading producer so far with 721 deer in two days. Ozark County is second with 673 and Howell third with 612.

The commission also reported the final results of four special two-day seasons in these areas:

Peck Ranch in Carter County 105 deer killed, Caney Mountain 76, Indian Trail 14 and Deer Run State Forest 8.

Peck Ranch and Caney Mountain refuges were opened for hunters because their deer populations were getting too large. Indian Trail and Deer Run were reduced to two days because their deer herds are lower than other areas of the state.

Two gun accidents occurred on the first day of the season. Russell Baker, 25, of St. Louis was seriously hurt when he dropped his rifle and it went off, the slug hitting him in the shoulder.

Robert M. Coffman of Prairie Village, Kan., was shot in the leg by another hunter in Camden County. The other man said he mistook Coffman for a deer.

Paul Manche of St. Louis got his deer Sunday, the 15th he has killed in 18 years of hunting in Missouri.

S-C Debate Teams Makes Best Effort

The Smith-Cotton Speech and Debate Squad, under the instruction of their new coach Dan B. Curtis, made its best showing in two years at the Missouri University Laboratory High School Forensic Tournament held in Columbia, Friday and Saturday.

The team of Terry Winebrenner and Craig Cassing, both seniors, captured second place in championship division by remaining undefeated throughout five rounds of preliminary debate and two rounds of quarter-final and semi-final debate. The team took its only loss in the final round when it was defeated by Hickman High School of Columbia.

In regular division debate, the team of Harry Lambirth, junior, and Terry Koehn, senior, defeated five of the opposing seven teams and took third place in their division.

Other standings include: Bud Clark, second in Radio and TV Newsreading, and Jerry Paul, finalist in the boys' extemporaneous speaking event.

Sweepstakes results, which are based on the participating school's total number of finalist, both in individual events and debate, gave Smith-Cotton 100 points, second only to Hickman of Columbia with 120 points.

Approximately 26 schools, all from the Central Missouri area, including such schools as: Jefferson City High, Glendale of Springfield, LaDue of St. Louis, and Rolla High of Rolla were in attendance of this annual forensic tournament.

Defense Command, which keeps track of all orbiting objects. The pilots used more fuel than expected during Aldrin's time outside, cutting off plans to remain outside over the United States to photograph terrain.

EVA—extra vehicular activity—in the way of fuel," reported Lovell.

"We used 20 to 25 per cent."

The space agency said Aldrin's hatch opened about 9:53 a. m. (EST) and closed 52 minutes later.

While outside, however, Aldrin successfully photographed stars and terrain features. The "space stand" boosted his record space exposure time to 5½ hours.

The next U.S. space walk is not scheduled until 1968 on the fourth manned earth-orbital flight planned in America's Apollo man-to-the-moon program.

Making like a gymnast, Aldrin first did a series of exercises to evaluate how difficult it is to work in a stiff space suit, as Gemini 12 sped at 17,500 miles an hour over Australia.

"I can't get my arms down too far," he said.

The astronaut then began shooting pictures of some stars. "That's Jupiter," Lovell said.

They then turned their attention to shooting scientific pictures of the sunrise.

Although the hatch was opened earlier than planned in the reshuffled flight plan, it was one orbit later than originally planned, a postponement caused by problems with control jets and two attempts to photograph a high-flying yellow cloud over the glaring Sahara Desert.

As Command Pilot James A. Lovell Jr. wrestled with problems caused by two dead Gemini 12 maneuvering rockets, Aldrin first dumped overboard a bag of debris crammed with the 25-foot lifeline and chest pack used in his record-breaking stroll Sunday.

With split-second timing by control centers on three continents, the Gemini 12 pilots tried twice to photograph—but could not see—a wind-whipped vapor stream spewed by two French Centaure rockets high over the Sahara.

"We saw no cloud," Lovell radioed the second time around. "Pictures taken but no observation."

(6) Did you let him?
(7) Do you think he will ever amount to anything?
(8) Would you like your children to look like him?

I think these questions are dumb. Furthermore I resent the whole thing. Will you please tell me if I am a rebellious and headstrong teen-ager, as my mother says, or do I have a right to be buggy?—INSULTED

Dear Insulted: Your mother should know the name of every fellow you date because you should have introduced each one. She also should know where you are going for the evening. But the other questions, particularly number 8, are indeed dumb and I don't blame you for being resentful.

Your mother should stop playing twenty questions and display more confidence in your judgment.

My mother has decided that I must fill out a date-form. She wants me to answer about 20 questions. Here are some examples:

- (1) Name of your date, his age and his address.
- (2) Occupation of his father.
- (3) Where did you go?
- (4) How much money did he spend?
- (5) Did he try to kiss you?

Dear Ann Landers: I am burned up about that asinine letter to Dottie — the girl who was engaged at 18. Her dear friend who married at 18 wrote to warn her of the dangers of being a teen-age bride.

From the looks of your picture in the paper you can't be more than 40 years old and I happen to know you are a grandmother.
So — how old were YOU when you were married, Ann Landers? And how old was your daughter? Some people find it very easy to give advice to others but they don't follow it in their own lives.

I am enclosing a self-addressed envelope because I know you will never print this letter and I would like an answer. —
MRS. R. D. K.

Dear Mrs. R.D.K.: Thank you for the compliment but I'm over
40. Would you believe 48?
I was married at 21, after 3 1/2 years at Morningside College. I have since regretted that I did not stay in college and get my degree. Our daughter was married at 22, after four years at Brandeis University.

P. S. You are right. It's easier to give advice than to take it.

Farmer Has Popcorn Party For The Birds

BRIMSON, Mo. (AP) — Ben
Hurst, north of Brimson, had a party for the birds, although it was unplanned.

After his field of popcorn was harvested, he had some bulldozing done and in the process considerable corn was piled up with the uprooted trees. He set fire to the debris and the corn began to pop.

The heat of the fire popped the corn in a wide area and it piled up in high white drifts. As the corn began to pop, the birds began to arrive—the more popping, the more birds. Hurst estimated the number of birds in the thousands.

Power of America's Women

There can be little doubt that women command an impressive power in American life.

Women own 53.6 per cent of all common stock shares, hold one-third of the paid jobs, own nearly 50 per cent of the real estate, are beneficiaries of more than half the life insurance policies as well as owning billions of dollars worth of policies of their own, and account for 80 to 90 per cent of the nation's consumer spending.

On top of it all, they are responsible for 50 per cent of the vote.

To one representative of the sex, however, it is a grievous error to measure women in terms of economics. In the opinion of Mary G. Roebling, chairman of the board of the Trenton (N.J.) Trust Company, this curious emphasis upon economics in explaining the power and influence of women is one of the basic reasons for much of the world's problems today.

Says Mrs. Roebling, the first woman ever to serve as chairman of the board and president of a major commercial bank:

"By transferring the emphasis of the role of woman from her natural one to an economic one, not only is the woman displaced, but a vacuum is left in all those critical areas of moral persuasion for justice and good and, of critical importance, the molding of the next generation."

It is not by accident, she says, that women in Russia are expected to work and place their children in day nurseries from infancy. By separating child from mother, the sole influence upon it is its Communist teachers.

Moreover, says Mrs. Roebling, American women do not seek and have never sought to use the influence their economic power gives them. Women do not regard themselves as a separate species. They do not vote as women. There is no "his" and "hers" ballot box.

The true power of the American woman is not her economic strength, not the billions of dollars nor the stocks and bonds and properties she owns.

It is a spiritual force—"far greater than an economic force, and it is a force for good which is shaping mankind in each generation into better individuals."

Stand In Line To Sue

Here's yet another reason, if one is needed, to practice safe driving habits.

It's taking longer than ever to bring personal injury suits — almost all of which arise out of automobile accidents — to jury trial in state courts.

According to the 12th annual survey of state court calendars by the Institute for Judicial Administration, the average waiting period in the 94 courts that provided information grew to 19.9 months this year. In 1964 it was 18.4 months.

Fifteen of the courts, all in populous counties, reported a lapse of more than 30 months between the time a suit is filed and a decision rendered. Worst was Cook County (Chicago), with a delay of 69.3 months.

It's doubtful if even Shakespeare was thinking in terms of over five and a half years when he spoke of "the law's delay."

Election Techniques Deserve Scrutiny

By DREW PEARSON AND JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — There is one all-important lesson to be learned from the recent election: The time has come for the public to look ahead of the slogan. The time has also come for Congress to limit the millions of dollars spent to spread slogans and create images.

Electing a governor or a senator has now become a question of selling a candidate with the same Madison Avenue techniques as you sell underarm deodorants.

The secret of political success is not in letting the public know what a candidate stands for, but in hiring the right public relations firm. And that PR firm may decide that the easiest road to victory is to hide what a candidate stands for, not advertise it.

Bob Dresser and Hal Evry, partners in one very successful Los Angeles PR agency, won't take a political client who doesn't score at least 120 on I.Q. tests, but his party principles are of no concern to them. "Political party doesn't mean anything at all any more," Dresser told us. "One half of one per cent of the people are bound by the party. We go after the other 99 1/2 per cent."

The partners also won't permit the clients to do any political stumpng. "The days are gone of those tedious rounds of coffee klatches attended by 12 people who are already on your side," said Dresser. "We believe in exposure, but on our own terms."

This means a candidate may buy a million dollars worth of television but never debate. As Evry put it:

"Clients who campaign least win the most votes."

The agency won a State Senate seat for one client with no more campaign than the constant billboarding of the slogan, "Three Cheers For Pat Milligan."

"In 30 years," Dresser predicts, "our method will be accepted by everyone. Until the others catch on we'll keep beating them."

Building A Governor

Next year, Dresser and Evry will promote an unknown Democratic businessman, David Trapp, for Governor of Kentucky. They expect the campaign to cost $3 million, of which they will take a 20 per cent cut. The new election technique is to poll the voters to find out not what the country needs but what the people want.

This is like running a school by taking a poll of students as to which courses are the easiest, then fixing the curriculum according to the students' wishes. Or it's like taking the TV ratings which find westerns, crime thrillers, and rock'n' roll to be the most popular, then gearing the entire net-work's program to please the lowest common denominator of the public taste.

In California, where the majority of voters have usually rejected extremists, the Spencer-Roberts Agency carefully steered Ronald Reagan toward the middle of the road. The movie actor, who had swung from the extreme left to the extreme right during his erratic political career, was presented to voters as a moderate.

The Baus & Ross Agency, which handled Gov. Pat Brown's campaign, found Reagan's good guy image "one hell of a problem." William B. Ross explained to us: "I called the troops together and said, 'You can't make this guy Reagan the villain. You can't put the black hat on him. You've got to treat him as the guy who never quite gets the girl — a nice guy who just didn't quite get her.'"

Unknown Manufacturer
It cost more than $3 million to build up an unknown millionaire electronics manufacturer named Milton Shapp to a point where he had a chance to be Governor of Pennsylvania.

The man behind Shapp's buildup was Joe Napolitan, a bespectacled, brusque and brilliant ex-newspaperman who used computer-analyzed polls to find out what Pennsylvanians liked and disliked.

Then he spliced professional moves, staged not-so-talkative TV appearances, sent out 16-page color brochures, took full-page ads and rented billboards to promote Shapp.

Napolitan rejects any suggestions, however, that he is a huckster. He accepts only moderate Democrats, and turns down clients who do not seem "competent and decent."

"In four or five years," he assured us, "every major campaign will be managed by a political campaign specialist."

There is a danger to democracy in selling candidates on the open market like a new brand of soap. In the first place, it requires millions of dollars. Only a few wealthy candidates, or candidates willing to put themselves in hock to wealthy backers, can afford this kind of campaign.

Second, by using slogans and simplicities, a Ronald Reagan can be sold to voters on a good-guy appeal alone. His political convictions, which should be the true test of his qualifications, are covered up. Or a George Mahoney, running for Governor of Maryland, can evade the issues by hammering on the slogan, "Your Home Is Your Castle."

Never before has it been so important for Congress to set up new standards to govern election campaigns. Otherwise we will become a government by hucksters and for hucksters, with the people voting according to Madison Avenue images, not integrity.

Romney Puts Finger On GOP Dilemma

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney, unwilling to say yet whether he will try for the Republican presidential nomination in 1968, has put his finger on his party's dilemma in these next two years.

The Republicans aren't alone. In that same period, if they hope to win 1968, the Democrats will have to find a way to get out of the stagnation that now besets them and just cost them seats in Congress and governorships.

Romney, fresh from his third-term victory in last Tuesday's elections, Sunday on NBC's "Meet the Press" panel explained what he thinks the Republicans need to do to win the White House in 1968.

"Well," he said, "I think it is going to take demonstrations on the part of the Republican party that they are the party of promise and they are the party that can solve the problems of this nation better than the people now in control of the national administration."

In other words, they will have to stand for something imaginative and constructive. For years they have been the "against" party, never better illustrated than in the 1964 presidential election year.

The Republicans, under right-wing control, suffered a colossal disaster and their presidential candidate, Sen. Barry Goldwater, was trounced by Lyndon B. Johnson.

But that was the same fate they had met in every presidential election since 1932, except for the two victories of Dwight D. Eisenhower of 1952 and 1956. Yet, his victory was a vote for the man, not for the party, as the voters demonstrated.

In 1952 they gave Eisenhower a Republican — controlled Congress to work with. Two years of that were enough. In 1954 the Democrats regained control. In 1956 the voters, again repudiating the Republicans as a national party, elected Eisenhower for a second term but gave the Democrats a majority in Congress.

Nationally, last Tuesday's elections were a continuation of this voters' attitude although much has been made of the fact that the Republicans did better than expected.

They regained 47 House seats, giving them a total of 187, but the Democrats still run the show with a total of 248. Yet, all 435 House seats were at stake.

In the Senate the Republicans gained three seats, for a total of 33, while the Democrats, with 67, run the show. So much nationally. On the state level the Republicans did well, capturing eight governorships, for a total of 25.

But what the Republican party — as a national party — stands for is hard to say. They're still divided between intense conservatives, moderates, and liberals. One illustration has been provided in a hurry.

Goldwater also appeared Sunday on television, on ABC's "Issues and Answers," and was pretty cool about the idea Romney might head the party in 1968.

But in the states there is a lot of division among Democrats, too, and if any single weakness in the party seemed to be revealed by Democratic setbacks last Tuesday it was this:

President Johnson is a political master in organizing his immediate area, but only one with which he is familiar: Congress, where he spent 23 years, his own immediate staff and department heads.

Long before the elections, for whatever his reason, he had reduced to a shambles the one Democratic organization whose job is to take care of election and campaign details, the Democratic National Committee. Politically, for Johnson, this showed a poor sense of Democratic needs nationally, not just locally.

In contrast, Ray C. Bliss, chairman of the Republican National Committee, brought in to help reorganize his party after the 1964 debacle, apparently did a fine job taking care of details.

South's four-heart call was an all-purpose bid. He wasn't sure that he would be able to make it. In fact, he rather expected not to make it; on the other hand his partner had passed as dealer, the opponents were vulnerable and South was really afraid of the spade suit.

We don't give our full seal of approval to South's bid but we have always felt that a player who makes such bids should be able to get maximum mileage out of his cards when he gets around to playing the dummy.

West opened the king of spades and continued. South ruffed the second spade and led a club to dummy. East dropped the nine spot. Then South finessed the heart unsuccessfully.

If West had been one of those wooden type players he would have led another spade but West had seen his partner's nine of clubs. West led a second club. The defense wound up with one trick in each suit and 50 points on their side of the ledger.

South explained that if the trump finesse had worked he would have made his game and that East and West could have made three spades. He was right about all that but he should have made his contract.

There is no rule requiring declarer to play trumps right away. South was looking at a potential spot to get rid of that loser. South should have played ace and another diamond the first time he was in. West's best defense would be to take his king and shoot a diamond back. South would play low from dummy and ruff. Then he could lead out ace and another trump and it wouldn't matter where the king was. South would be able to get rid of the losing club on the queen of diamonds.

Price of Brides Shows Inflation International

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — Those who think inflation is strictly a phenomenon of Western civilization haven't had to ante up cowrie shells lately to buy an African bride.

Time was a young swain needed only two of these small, colorful shells to complete a deal with a bride's family. Now, in the Cameroons, it takes 15,000 to 50,000 cowries.

On Santa Cruz, in the British Solomon Islands, the price of a bride has gone up to at least 10 feather coils and specialists have taken control of the whole business from the bird catching to putting a price on a coil.

In primitive areas of the world, principally remote regions of Africa and Oceania, brides are still purchased with ages-old mediums of exchange. And just about everywhere the price has gone up — and up.

A study of this practice, along with a collection of money, goes on display today in an exhibit called "The Price of a Bride" at the Chase Manhattan money museum at Sixth Avenue and 50th Street.

For the most part wife-buying is now symbolic and the cowrie shells, feather coils, porpoise teeth, Yap stones and all the rest becomes status symbols for the bride's family, said Caroline Harris, director of the money museum.

"We were curious to know the amount the young 20th century tribesman must pay to secure a dutiful, hard-working wife," said Mrs. Harris. "We found that practices are not strikingly different from what they have been in the civilized parts of the world."

"The price of a bride depends on the wealth of the suitor. Naturally, the more he has, the more he pays."

Mrs. Harris said the families don't regard themselves as selling a child.

"When they lose a daughter to marriage, that means one less person to do the work, so they must be compensated for that loss," she said.

New Battle Slows Viet Pacification

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The battle of Tay Ninh Province set back a major U.S. effort to clean out Viet Cong guerrillas near Saigon.

Nearly half the combat battalions of the 1st Infantry Division had been wheeled into position for the big pacification campaign. Some operations had been mounted just outside the Vietnamese capital.

Then elements of the Viet Cong 9th Division, a main force outfit, opened major attacks in Tay Ninh Province about 60 miles northwest of Saigon. The 1st Division had to rush to the critical battleground.

Only a few hours before the Tay Ninh battle erupted Nov. 3, senior officers of the 1st Division told a newsmen the VC 9th had been "pushed back into the briar patch" along the Cambodian border.

The 1st Division could concentrate on "grinding up the guerrillas" as close as five miles from Saigon, these officials said.

The VC 9th crossed up the American plans.

The U.S. plan — which probably will be carried out after the Tay Ninh battle ends — calls for four battalions of the 1st Division to do pacification work.

The object of the intensified drive to break down the Viet Cong organization or infrastructure in the villages near Saigon and loosen the enemy's hold on the peasants.

During its search-and-destroy sweeps against regular VC units, the 1st Infantry operated

Goldwater Says He Won't Block Romney

WASHINGTON (AP) — Barry Goldwater says it's "not true" that he and Richard M. Nixon are collaborating to try to block any bid by Michigan Gov. George Romney for the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

But Goldwater, though not closing the door on Romney, said the governor still has "a lot of homework to do" with party leaders to atone for not endorsing Goldwater in the 1964 presidential race.

Romney, meanwhile, said he still hasn't decided whether to run for president.

Goldwater was asked Sunday on ABC's "Issues and Answers" if he were collaborating with Nixon to stop Romney, as the questioner said, "it has been written and reported."

"No that is not true," said Goldwater. "I happen to be a Nixon backer, but I haven't seen Dick Nixon in person in over three months."

Nixon is regarded as another likely candidate for the nomination.

Romney, appearing on NBC's "Meet the Press," continued his move to gloss over old differences with Goldwater.

Though saying "I just haven't made a decision" on whether to run for president, Romney was his most candid so far in acknowledging he is thinking about running.

He and Goldwater did join in attacking Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara in the wake of McNamara's announcement that the Soviet Union is deploying an antimissile system.

"Just another incident of where McNamara is not leveling with the American people," said Goldwater.

"Perhaps we have a gap in this (antimissile) respect now as a result of mismanagement of these Democratic administrations," said Romney.

On GOP politics, Romney said, "I am not interested in going back and taking a look at the past."

But Goldwater was interested, saying: "Romney is a Republican. He calls himself one. But it has only been in this campaign that he has publicly done this. Now this may not mean anything to the rank and file American, but it means a lot to those people who work in Republican politics. He has a lot of home work to do and a lot of spade and groundwork to do in the area of the Republican party itself."

Civil Air Strike Expected In Canada

MONTREAL (AP) — An estimated 80 per cent of Canada's civil air transport facilities was expected to be grounded this afternoon by a strike of 5,200 maintenance workers against Air Canada.

Last-minute settlement efforts failed to stop plans for the walkout. Union leaders of the International Association of Machinists ordered the strike to begin at 4 p.m. EST.

Both domestic and international services of Air Canada, the nation's largest airline, were to be affected.

The union is seeking a one-year contract with a wage increase of 20 per cent and an increase in fringe benefits. Current pay scales range from $1.56 to $3.17 per hour.

in battalion and brigade strength.

In switching emphasis to pacification, the intention is to break down the American infantry forays to squad, platoon and company scale.

"We'll be going into the villages 24 hours a day and we'll be patrolling every night," said a senior officer.

USDA Yearbook

The 1966 Yearbook of Agriculture, published by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, is now off the presses.

The book follows the food supply from the farmer's field to the saucer on the stove. Every stage of safeguarding food from insects, rodents, bacterial contamination, and loss of body-building values is described.

Senators and congressmen each have a limited number of copies of the Yearbook for free distribution to constituents. Copies of the Yearbook, "Protecting Our Food," may also be obtained for $2.50 each from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C. 20402.

Apply Lime

Anytime a truck can drive over the ground is a good guide as to when to apply lime.

Ground limestone is most effective when applied at least six months before the growing crop needs it.

The exact time is not the important thing with lime applications. More important is to use it when needed.

Farmers whose land should be limed for crops next year should make arrangements to have it spread between now and the next few months.

Salaries of Ag Graduates

University of Missouri College of Agriculture students who graduated in June accepted employment positions at an average annual starting salary of $6,458. This compares to $6,123 for February graduates.

Earl VanEaton, placement director for the College of Agriculture who works closely with students and employers, says graduates who accepted farming or farm management positions were hired for $6,400 in February, and for $6,890 in June. Respective salaries for February and June graduates employed by manufacturing and processing firms were $6,120 and $6,850.

Those who went to work for wholesale and retail trade firms started at $6,240 in February, and $6,730 in June. February graduates who went into vocational agriculture teaching and extension work started at $6,345; June graduates received $6,715.

Investment Credit

Suspension period for investment credit on machinery and equipment purchases plus fast tax write-offs on real property was changed to start Oct. 10, 1966, rather than Sept. 9. The suspension will end Dec. 31, 1967. The first $20,000 worth of equipment purchased during the 15-month period is excluded from the investment credit suspension. You can still take the 7 per cent tax credit on up to $20,000 worth of purchases. This means tax credits up to $1,400 will be allowed.

Present fast depreciation tax write-offs are also kept on buildings costing up to $50,000. Thus, most farmers will be affected very little by this new tax law.

A Dairyman's Odds

Will you be milking cows ten years from now? The odds are less than 1 in 4 that you will be. Missouri presently has some 25,000 dairy farms selling milk or cream. This is far less than 65,000 farms ten years ago. This is no indication of a slowing down of this trend. The possibility is that Missouri will have 10,000 or fewer farms producing milk by 1980.

If this trend or statement of odds bothers you, or confirms your frustrations of dairying, what can you do about it?

First, you can spend some very profitable hours selecting a sire for next year's calf crop. The fall season of breeding is here. Select the best sire that you can find. The chances are 9 to 1 that it will have to be a sire in an artificial insemination stud. There are only about 400 purebred sires produced in Missouri each year. Most of them will be gone before they are three years of age; and by 1971 we will know that 1 out of every 2 purebred bulls raised this year should have been butchered rather than registered. So 200 bulls each year for three years means that there are only about 600 bulls in Missouri worthy of being sires of your next year's calf crop. In natural service they are likely to produce about one of every twenty replacements needed.

Research indicates that cross breeding dairy heifers to beef bulls has little benefit in preventing calving problems. You will find the choice of a dairy sire from a line or family that is smaller in size to be more satisfactory.

If all these odds confuse you and you are determined to leave dairying, don't gamble on a beef bull. A good dairy heifer will bring enough to more than offset the difference you may gain on beef, even if the odds of having a heifer are 50-50. With good quality dairy animals you will have some valuable assets to sell.

Finally, no small number of dairymen will retire in the next ten years. The odds are that many will look back upon dairying as having provided a satisfactory living for their best efforts.

Getting the Most From Feeds With Hogs

Energy is the most expensive ingredient in swine rations—a fact often overlooked when we use home-grown grains. Considering the current prices of grains, hog feeders should make sure they are getting the most out of their feed. A few simple checks could result in a substantial saving.

First, consider corn substitution. In some areas prices permit substitution in part or completely for corn.

Wheat and grain sorghums may replace corn pound for pound. Barley can replace corn at about 90 per cent of its value and oats at 80 per cent when not over one-third of the ration is oats.

All of these substitutes need grinding, and barley and oats are high enough in fiber to reduce gains of growing pigs.

Bakery products may make up to 1/2 of swine rations when available. Fats, tallow, and greases may be used but should not exceed 7 1/2 per cent of the total ration. See MU Guide 2352, "Feeds For Swine" at your county extension office for a thorough discussion of these.

Second, feed wastage is a problem on most hog farms. Wastage averaged about 20 per cent on some farms in Illinois a few years ago and more than this amount with certain types of self-feeders with meal rations in recent tests in Virginia. Surveillance with self-feeders and use of pellets where economical reduce feed wastage.

We also need to keep in mind that a large waste of feed results from unthrifty hogs. For this reason most research supports the use of antibiotics for growing-finishing pigs. Antibiotics should implement a total herd health program, not substitute for it.

Fourth, we should feed a balanced ration to reduce feed costs. This includes water convenient to the feeders and no colder than 45 degrees F. There is sometimes a tendency to reduce protein levels in swine growing rations below optimum growth standards when it is expensive such as is the situation now. This practice almost always increases cost of gain. On the other hand, overfeeding protein increases cost of gain also.

Check your ration for the correct protein-gain proportions by reading from a handy table in MU Guide 2350, "Grain-Protein Supplement Ratios in Swine Rations."

Finally, the genetic ability of your herd may greatly affect feed efficiency. Maximize this potential with a good gain-tested boar.

Beef Cows

What does the future hold for beef cows on Missouri farms? This question arises more frequently with the increasing demand for beef and reports of near-capacity stocking in the range areas.

If you're thinking about starting a beef cow enterprise—or expanding an existing one—more specific questions should be investigated? What are the requirements for a beef cow herd? Will beef cows pay on my farm? What size herd and what management program offers best opportunity for profit?

Some answers to these and other questions are revealed in records from more than 100 beef cow owners who have cooperated with the University in a special beef cow research panel for the past three years. The following facts may help with your planning.

First, labor requirements are low—only about six hours per cow for the three-year period—and about 70 per cent comes during the wintering period (December through April) when other farm work is less pressing.

Second, feed is the biggest cost item—averaging about $63 per cow but ranging from $30 to $142 per cow. A special analysis of 1964 data revealed an average margin above feed costs of $13.40 per cow but the range among herds was wide—from a minus $45.90 to a profit of $62.93.

Finally, roughage accounted for 94 per cent of the total feed bill and 63 per cent of the cost came in the five-month wintering period.

There, and other data from panel records, show that fitting the beef cow enterprise to the farm is the key for a profitable enterprise. A long grazing season is essential if the pasture is on land not suitable for more productive use. Beef cows and grass cannot compete with corn, soybeans, and other high

Weeds in the untreated area of the plot have nearly completely choked out the soybean stand. By using good farm practices including weedicides, much of the competition for plant food and moisture between weeds and crops can be eliminated, says Anderson. There's no profit in raising weeds, the specialist points out. Even a few weeds are a potential threat. A single weed plant of some species can produce 100,000 or more seeds. In summary, beef cow enterprises seem most promising under the following conditions:

As a major enterprise for part-time and part-retirement farm operators who have other sources of income for family living and who have a limited amount of labor available.

As a secondary enterprise on larger farms to utilize stalk fields, other crop residues, and rough pasture land with little alternative use; and, As the major enterprise on large farms if the investment in land and annual fixed costs are relatively low, if a rather low rate of return on investment for most years is acceptable, and if family income requirements for debt payments, new investments, and cash outlays for family living are not too pressing.

For all types of operations, the margin above feed costs was closely correlated with the pounds of calves produced per cow and inversely with the tons of hay and silage fed per cow, indicating the necessity for good herd management.

First Time For Devaney

Nebraska Clinches Title With No Disputes Visible

By JIM VAN VALKENBURG
Associated Press Sports Writer

It was the same song, fourth verse in Big Eight football and only Nebraska thinks it's a catchy tune.

The brawny and talented Huskers, 26-1 in league play during Coach Bob Devaney's four-year title reign, for the first time clinched an undisputed crown with one game left.

The formula this time was a 52-yard field goal by Missouri's Bill Bates for a 10-7 upset victory at Oklahoma, and the expected 21-6 Nebraska victory over Oklahoma State before 65,102 at Lincoln, largest crowd ever to see a Big Eight game—seven fans more than saw the Missouri game Oct. 29.

In almost five years under Devaney, Nebraska stands 31-4 in Big Eight play, 45-4 in regular season play and—Shhhh—2-2 in bowl games. Over-all: 47-6.

Only question now is which bowl game will get the Huskers, ranked No. 4 nationally. Nebraska is hankering for a return match with Alabama in the Sugar Bowl to avenge a 39-28 loss to "Bama in the Orange Bowl last year. Alabama might not agree, however.

Under NCAA rules, no bowl bid can be considered by Nebraska until Nov. 21, the Monday before the last game at Oklahoma Thanksgiving Day. A victory in that one would give Devaney a second straight 10-0 regular season.

Colorado, a last-minute 21-19 loser to Nebraska, stayed in the bowl picture and moved into second place with a 35-18 victory at Kansas. Bernie McCall, possibly the best No. 2 quarterback in the nation, led the Buffs to 166 passing a 201 total offense.

Iowa State got a 30-13 victory at Kansas State despite another 108 yards rushing by K-State's Cornelius Davis, the league leader. Iowa State end Eppie Barney broke the league career record for pass receptions.

Missouri contained OU's fleet backs to just 116 yards rushing and the Tigers won with straight power, throwing only two passes.

"Bates was kicking just great before the game and he kicked them 57 yards in practice," Devaney said. The conference record is 54 yards.

Oklahoma State's sophomore fullback, Jack Reynolds, got 100 yards in 20 shots at Nebraska, but Harry Wilson was one better, 104 on 21 for the Huskers. Bob Church ran his season passing total of 1,060 yards, a Nebraska record. Larry Wacholtz spoiled the last OSU threat with his seventh interception, also a school record.

Dawson Is All Cushion KC Needed

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The deadly passing of Len Dawson gave Kansas City's AFL western division leaders all the cushion they needed in the first half, so it was only natural Coach Hank Stram wanted to talk about his cool quarterback.

"No passer in pro ball is more accurate than Lenny," Stram said. "He is throwing better and reading defenses better than ever before. A healthy Dawson has made a tremendous difference to our club this year."

Dawson threw for 256 yards and three touchdowns in the first half, then sat out the last half as the Chiefs coasted to a 34-16 victory over Miami for an 8-2 record. Kansas City's margin went up to two full games as Oakland took over second place at 6-4 by whipping San Diego, 41-19.

"It was as good as I've ever had," Dawson said. "I'm throwing better this year than in several years because for the first time I don't have arm trouble. I started my exercise program last Feb. 1 and have kept it up."

"Hank is letting me pace myself this year. On Friday he limits my throwing to 15 passes. As a result my arm is stronger on Sunday."

His touchdowns were 26 yards to Fred Arbanas, 89 to Otis Taylor and 35 to Chris Burford, the 50th TD reception of Burford's career.

On Taylor's spectacular 89-yarder, Dawson sprinted downfield looking for someone to block and actually escorted Otis into the end zone. Taylor eluded one man, broke a tackle and Al Reynolds got a key block.

The Kansas City defense made six interceptions, two each by Johnny Robinson, Fred Williamson and Bobby Hunt. Stram put it this way:

"Our defense was just fabulous."

Miami Coach George Wilson and his players were high in their praise of the Chiefs, but they didn't think Williamson was fabulous.

Miami's rookie end, little Howard Twilley, suffered a fractured cheek bone from a Williamson tackle in the last period.

"That blow was low, unfair and cheap," Wilson said. Williamson calls his tackling style "dropping the hammer." Fred had this to say:

"I don't aim it. I just throw it. I don't play to hurt people."

But Mel Branch and Frank Jackson, both ex-Chiefs, were incensed and Branch predicted "Somebody is going to get him."

Says Spartan Game With Notre Dame Is Chance To See Champ

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State Coach Duffy Daugherty said Sunday the Spartans-Notre Dame football game is "a great opportunity to decide the national championship on the field of play."

The No. 2 ranked Spartans meet top-rated Notre Dame at Spartan Stadium Saturday. Daugherty, who has advocated a national collegiate football playoff similar to other NCAA championships, made the remark during a television interview in Lansing.

He said the collegiate championship usually is "decided by comparative scores or in the polls."

McCall said after increasing his career total offense to 2,934 yards, a figure exceeded only by nine players in Big Eight history. Fleet little Dan Kelly, the No. 1 man, was still bothered with a stiff wrist, so Colorado Coach Eddie Crowder told McCall early last week he was going to start.

Kansas set a school record by completing 21 passes, with Bob Douglass the best on 10-for-15. But the Jayhawks lost four regulars with injuries and their first two fullbacks are doubtful for the closing game with Missouri at Columbia Saturday.

Colorado meets Air Force in Boulder, Oklahoma State plays at Kansas State and Iowa State at Arizona in other games.

Charlie Brown, the Big Eight's rushing leader last year, produced his second straight big game with 93 yards on 22 shots at Oklahoma. The big play for Mizzou, however, was Mike Ewing's 49-yard bolt to the OU 25 starting the third period scoring drive.

The Tigers caught OU's line slanting the wrong way and Earl Denny wiped out the linebacker with an excellent block.

"We played the same containing defense we used against Kansas when (Gale) Sayers was over there," Devine said. "Beating OU will mean a great deal to our players later on in life."

The Tigers were in better condition physically than in a long time.

Kansas lost end Sandy Buda with a shoulder separation, fullback Dick Bacon with a severely twisted knee, defensive back H. C. Hixon with a torn rib muscle and guard Steve Heck with a severe ankle sprain.

In addition, No. 2 fullback Tom DiBiase has a sore knee, halfback Don Shanklin a sore leg and quarterback Bill Fenton bruises of the knee, back and shoulder.

Coach Jack Mitchell may move second string halfback Thermus Butler to fullback.

Kansas safety Bill Hunt blocked a field goal attempt, scooped it up and ran 76 yards to score in the last period, helped by Ken Johnson's block. Douglass threw 5-for-5 for 54 yards in an 86-yard third quarter drive and drilled a 19-yard TD to Junior Riggins on fourth-and-7.

In other MIAA games, Cape Girardeau State wrapped up second place with a 41-19 victory over Kirksville State and Maryville State finished by slamming the Rolla Miners, 36-13.

Springfield State, which Saturday accepted a bid to the Mineral Water bowl November 26 in Excelsior Springs, winds up at home Saturday against Southern Illinois. Cape Girardeau travels to Russellville, Ark., for a meeting with Arkansas Tech and the Rolla Miners go to Peoria, Ill., to play Bradleys.

In independent ranks last week, Washington of St. Louis and Lincoln moved back into a tie. The St. Louis team had little trouble blasting Sewanee, 38-3, and Lincoln fell to powerful Tennessee State, 28-6. Both Missouri Independents are 6-2.

This week Langston (Okla.) plays Lincoln in Jefferson City and Washington has a Virginia date with Washington and Lee.

Warrensburg Blanked By Springfield

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Springfield State blanked Warrensburg State, 10-0, to grab undisputed possession of the MIAA championship and William Jewell edged Missouri Valley, 14-13, for the fifth straight time in the MCAU in the major weekend developments in Missouri small-college football.

Fullback Phil Colwell scored on 2 and 35-yard runs to spur Jewell. The Cardinals of Liberty claim the title in the shattered MCAU, although Tarkio finished with a 3-0 loop mark, they didn't meet either Jewell or Valley.

Feet Play Big Role

Redskins Miss Bid To Upset Cowboys

By ED SCHUYLER R.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Washington Redskins missed upsetting the Dallas Cowboys by a foot—Danny Villanueva's right one—and the Detroit Lions get their kicks from Garo Yepremian.

In fact, National Football League Clubs really played football Sunday as 29 field goals were kicked, the most of any weekend this season.

Villanueva kicked only one field goal but it came with just 15 seconds remaining and gave the Cowboys a 31-30 victory, a 6-2-1 record and moved them to within one-half game of first place St. Louis in the Eastern Conference.

On the other hand, Yepremian booted six field goals for an NFL single game record as the Lions nipped Minnesota 32-31. His eight attempts also tied a single game mark set by Baltimore's Lou Michaels when he was with Pittsburgh.

Still another single game record—11 three-point tries by two teams—was set in Pittsburgh's 30-9 upset of St. Louis.

Pittsburgh's Mike Clark made three and Jim Bakken booted a like number for the Cardinals, 7-2-1, playing their first game without quarterback Charley Johnson who is through for the season because of an ankle injury.

In other games, Baltimore tied idle Green Bay for first place in the West with a 7-2 mark by taking a 19-7 victory over Atlanta. Cleveland whipped Philadelphia 27-7 to move within a game of St. Louis; San Francisco tied Chicago 30-30 and Los Angeles snapped a four-game losing streak by trouncing New York 55-14.

Although Villanueva's field goal won't put him in the record book, it could help put the Cowboys in the book as conference or even league champions.

Dallas, with no time outs left, started the drive for Villanueva's winning 20-yard boot from their own three with only 59 seconds left. Villanueva also converted after four TDs—two of them by the passing combination of Don Meredith to Bob Hayes for 53 and 95 yards.

The Redskins had gone ahead on an 18-year pass from Sonny Jurgensen to Charlie Taylor. Jurgensen also hit Taylor for a 78-yard TD, and Charley Gogolak kicked three field goals.

"After a while, I think I'll be a good kicker," Yepremian said after breaking the old record of five field goals held by Ernie Nevers of the Duluth Eskimos, Bob Waterfield of the Los Angeles Rams and the Detroit Red Wings.

At Boston, meanwhile, defenseman Ted Green's unassisted third-period goal gave the Bruins a 2-1 victory over Montreal, dropping the defending NHL champions into last place. The proud Canadiens, who have lost four in a row, trail the fifth-place Bruins by one point in the early race.

In Sunday night's other game, linemates Reg Fleming, Earl Ingarfield and Boom Boom Geoffrion paced the New York Rangers to a 5-2 triumph over the Detroit Red Wings.

Top Rated Teams Meet This Week

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer

Nobody can quibble with Ara Parseghian and Duffy Daugherty this week when they are quoted as saying: "We're not looking past this week's game."

That's the cliche the two coaches have stuck with most of the season, but this time it is for real. This is the week Parseghian's top-ranked Notre Dame and Daugherty's second-rated Michigan State meet in one of the most eagerly awaited college football games in years.

The Irish and Spartans set up their unbeaten battle with easy victories last Saturday, Notre Dame over Duke 64-0 and Michigan State over Indiana 37-19.

Terry Hanratty, back on the beam, completed eight of 13 passes for 127 yards and two touchdowns, one to favorite receiver Jim Seymour. The Irish also intercepted four passes in upping their record to 8-0.

Michigan State, winning its second straight Big Ten title, piled up a 37-7 lead as Jimmy Raye threw for three touchdowns and the defense held the Hoosiers to a minus 10 yards rushing.

With Michigan State ineligible for a Rose Bowl bid after going last year, Purdue, 5-1, wrapped up an almost certain bowl trip by polishing off chief challenger Minnesota 1-0.

Illinois, 4-2, clobbered Wisconsin 49-14, but even an Illini victory over Northwestern Saturday and a Purdue loss to Indiana would give the Boilermakers the bid because they have never made the bowl trip before.

Another conference title was settled when undefeated Nebraska, No. 4 in The Associated Press poll, clinched its fourth straight Big Eight crown by overcoming Oklahoma State 21-6 while Missouri eliminated Oklahoma 10-7.

Arkansas, 5-1, set up its unprecedented third straight Southwestern Conference title and a Cotton Bowl trip by dealing Southern Methodist its first defeat, 22-0 on Dave Dickey's two scores.

The Razorbacks, ranked sixth, need only a victory over last year's Texas Tech Saturday to clinch at least a tie and a certain bowl bid.

A 52-yard pass from Kirby Moore to Hardy King helped Georgia to a 21-13 triumph over Auburn and gave the ninth-ranked Bulldogs at least a share of the Southeastern Conference flag with a 6-0 mark. The Bulldogs had to come back from a 13-0 halftime deficit.

Georgia has completed its conference schedule but Alabama can tie by beating Auburn Dec. 3. The unbeaten Crimson Tide, No. 3, belted South Carolina 24-0 for its 13th straight victory.

UCLA, No. 8, struggled by Stanford 10-0 on Gary Beban's 24-yard scoring run, but its Pacific 8 title and Rose Bowl hopes were jolted when Beban later suffered a broken ankle. The star quarterback will miss Saturday's showdown game against Southern California, which is the other half of the regionally televised doubleheader after the Notre Dame-Michigan State affair.

Southern Cal, ranked seventh, leads the league at 4-0. It did not play last Saturday.

In other games involving Top Ten teams, Georgia Tech, No. 5, rolled by Penn State 21-0 as Larry Good ran for one touchdown and passed 20 yards for another, and Tennessee, No. 10, lost to Mississippi 14-7 on Jerry Richardson's 51-yard run with a recovered fumble in the last two minutes.

Hot Battle At Rev-Rac Saturday

Fred Smith and Larry McCown shared top honors at Rev-Rac Center's slot races Saturday night. Smith took the hard-fought trophy dash in one of the closest battles to date and won the race only inches ahead of the second-place driver.

Larry McCown moved into the winner's circle with his first main event win. He had practiced driving several times the week just prior to the race and had set a new unofficial track record of seven seconds.

Winners for the eight event race program were: 1st heat—Marvin Nicholson; 2nd heat—Larry McCown; 3rd heat—Fred Smith. Trophy Dash—Fred Smith. 1st Semi-final—Larry McCown; 2nd Semi-final—Park Denny. Main Event—1st Larry McCown; 2nd Park Denny; 3rd Wally McCown. Consolation—1st Dave Dillon; 2nd Gary Deul; 3rd Bobby Pledge.

The Junior Races held on Friday night at 6:30 p.m. were run as a Motor Cross event awarding points for three races. Top point winners were: 1st—Randy Kidwell; 2nd—Terry Couls; 3rd—Danny Hickman.

The Center each week tries to give the drivers something new to work for. This coming Saturday the cars will be impounded at the start of the race and will be returned after the last race is over. This stipulation will, no doubt, create a stir among drivers as they will not get a chance to clean their tires between races. This will also make for more fun as the cars will handle very much the same way as they would on a dirt track. Practice driving may be had any week night between the hours of 6 p.m. and 9 p.m. at the Center at 2513 East Broadway.

Cracker 300 Added To List Of Trophies

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—Richard Petty has added the Cracker 300 to his collection of first place trophies won in stock car races.

The Randleman, N.C., driver roared home first Sunday in the season's initial NASCAR Grand Raceway. He brought his 1966 Plymouth in two laps ahead of Paul Lewis of Johnson City, Tenn., who finished second in a 1965 Plymouth.

Yepremian Smashes Records

MINNEAPOLIS — ST. PAUL (AP) — Five weeks ago in Baltimore, Garo Yepremian set foot on an American football field for the first time in his life.

Sunday, he broke the National Football League record by kicking six field goals, ranging from 15 to 33 yards, as the Detroit Lions edged the Minnesota Vikings 32-31.

Now, he proclaimed in the dressing room, he plans to become "at least one of the best" kickers in professional football. "That's why I chose No. 1 (his jersey number)," he said, and somehow it didn't sound like the little 22-year-old immigrant was bragging. The 5-foot-8, 165-pounder sounded too honest to be bragging.

"I am a good kicker," he said, "but I want to be one of the best."

Yepremian's background is even more intriguing than that of the Gogolak brothers, Pete and Charley, pro football's best-known soccer-style kickers. Yepremian, who boots with his left foot and looks like the Lions have suited up some high schooler when he trots onto the field, is a native of Cyprus. He's of Armenian descent and lived in a Greek neighborhood on Cyprus.

He left Cyprus in 1960 when he was 16, then spent 5 1/2 years in London as a salesman in a haberdashery. He played amateur soccer on the side—with the Armenian Youth Society, a church club.

Yepremian came to the United States last summer to visit his brother, Krikor, in Indianapolis. Krikor has been in this country eight years and attended Indiana University.

His brother helped him write letters to all the NFL and American Football League teams, seeking employment as a kicker.

The new Atlanta Falcons answered him first, inviting him to a tryout. Then the Lions also replied, extending an invitation for a look-see.

He went to Detroit, tried out for Coach Harry Gilmer and was signed on the field. He says a major factor in his selecting Detroit was that he found an Armenian church there and likes the city.

Wins Caracas Open

CARACAS, Venezuela — Art Wall Jr. put together rounds of a one-under-par 69 and a two-over-par 72 to win the Caracas Open Championship by one stroke over Wes Ellis and Dean Refram with a 72-hole score of 276.

Cappelletti fought a battle within himself after he failed on a 20-yard field goal attempt with 27 seconds to go against Denver. The Broncos then struck back and snapped Boston's three-game winning streak by hitting on a long pass with Refram with a 72-hole score of 276.

Cappelletti said, "It took me all week to shake the nightmare of the Denver game from my system," Cappelletti said.

Successor Makes His Owner A Near Prophet

NEW YORK (AP) — Successor, a well-named full brother of the 1964 2-year-old champion Bold Lad, has made his 85-year-old owner almost prophetic.

When Successor came charging down Garden State Park's sloppy stretch last Saturday after a sluggish start and won the $314,125 Garden State Stakes he not only assured himself of the 2-year-old crown but made Mrs. Henry Carnegie Phipps look good for the selection of his name.

Successor also gave the Phipps family the distinction of owning three straight 2-year-old champions. Buckpasser, carrying the black silks of Ogden Phipps, Mrs. Phipps' son, won the title last year and has gone on this year to rate best of the 3-year-olds and take horse of the year honors.

The Garden State, last major race of the year for 2-year-olds, wrapped up a wealthy weekend of thoroughbred racing.

It started Friday at Laurel, Md., with France's Behistoun and Russia's Aniline running one-two ahead of America's grass course champion, Assagai, in the $150,000 Washington D.C. International.

Cappelletti Is Back In Role Of Top AFL Scorer

BOSTON (AP) — Gino Cappelletti, owner of a sturdy toe and glued fingertips, resumed his role as the American Football League's leading scorer today after going from goat to hero within a week.

Cappelletti, bidding for his fifth scoring title in the AFL's seven-year history, connected for 21 points Sunday as the sputtering Boston Patriots held on for a 27-21 victory over Houston.

The 32-year-old former Minnesota star scored touchdowns on passes from Babe Parilli covering 63 and 31 yards, booted field goals from 28 and 44 yards out and kicked three conversions in boosting his nine-game output to 84 points.

"It took me all week to shake the nightmare of the Denver game from my system," Cappelletti said.

Cappelletti said, "It took me all week to shake the nightmare of the Denver game from my system," Cappelletti said.

Cappelletti fought a battle within himself after he failed on a 20-yard field goal attempt with 27 seconds to go against Denver. The Broncos then struck back and snapped Boston's three-game winning streak by hitting on a long pass with Refram with a 72-hole score of 276.

Canada Cup Retrieved By Golfers

TOKYO (AP) — Jack Nicklaus and Arnold Palmer, who have a pleasant custom of picking up expensive hardware, retrieved one of their favorite pieces — the Canada Cup — and headed back to the United States today.

And its companion piece, the International Trophy for individual victory, heads back to Canada for the first time in 12 years, thanks to a wire-to-wire victory by young George Knudson of Toronto.

"We came to win the Canada Cup as a team. We're glad we can take it back home," agreed Palmer and big Jack, who have taken it home on three previous occasions.

The 14th annual Canada Cup matches concluded Sunday in rain and cold at the Yomiuri Country Club on the outskirts of Tokyo with these results:

The Nicklaus-Palmer team scored a combined total of 548 strokes for 72 holes, 28 under par, breaking their own record of 554 established in Hawaii in 1964.

The ebullient Knudson finished the 72 holes tied with Japan's husky belter, Hideyo Sugimoto, at 272, tying the individual record set by old Sam Snead in 1961 in Puerto Rico.

Knudson then defeated the Japanese star on the second hole of the sudden death playoff.

Rick Barry Too Much For His Opposing Team

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Three quarters of Rick Barry can be almost too much. Sometimes they are.

Sunday night was one of those times.

Barry played only three quarters, but in that span he made 19 of 36 shots from the field and seven of eight from the foul line for 45 points as the San Francisco Warriors clobbered the Detroit Pistons 135-96.

In the only other game, the Philadelphia 76ers won their 11th game in 12 starts and increased their Eastern Division lead to a full game over Boston by dealing the Chicago Bulls their fourth straight loss, 132-126.

Philadelphia, led by Hal Greer, blew an 11-point lead and then fought back with nine points in a three-minute stretch of the fourth quarter.

Inflation Makes Sleeping More Expensive This Year

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

In these inflationary times even the cost of sleeping is going up. Americans now spend $58 million a year on sleeping pills and potions.

"Fat does run in families, just as most of us have suspected for some time. A scientific study of 1,000 faties found that 73 percent had at least one obese parent."

Wouldn't you like to live in Japan? Men retire there at the age of 55. The catch is that the average annual income in Japan is only $670 a year.

Most men probably would prefer to be a stepplejack than drive a nitroglycerin truck for a living. But the stepplejack's job is actually three times as risky.

QUOTABLE NOTABLES: "It is desperation, not love, that makes the world go round." — Author Thomas Merton in "Conjunctures of a Guilty Bystander."

ODD LEGISLATION: An old law in Kansas forbade the eating of rattlesnake meat in public — or the eating of any snake on Sunday.

MAN AND MOUSE: Man, if you're like a mouse, you'd better beware strenuous weekend exertions after five sedentary days in the office swivel chair. Researchers have found that mice subjected to sudden and unusual exercise developed more heart disease than those which were exercised regularly.

There has been a marked change in the typical drug addict, according to U.S. authorities. A generation ago he was a 40-year-old Southerner who took morphine. Today he is a 27-year-old New Yorker who uses heroin.

SALESMANSHIP IN THE FAR EAST: Some Japanese insurance firms are hiring out to sell life insurance. Their sales pitch: "If my husband had taken this policy, I wouldn't be here now trying to sell it."

THE PRICE OF INEXPERIENCE: Only five states require special tests for motorcycle drivers, and yet — a recent study showed that 20 percent of those hurt in motorcycle accidents were taking their first or second ride.

HOUSEHOLD WARNING: Mother, don't leave bottles of furniture polish around. It causes more lung damage than any other liquid accidentally swallowed by toddlers in the home.

HISTORY LESSON: Can you name the first U.S. president who regularly wore long trousers instead of knee breeches? He was James Madison, the fourth president, who served from 1809 to 1817.

FOLKLORE: Opening an umbrella in the home will bring bad luck. Waiters believe that if they break a dish their tips will be low for the rest of the day.

To cure the whooping cough, sew a live, fuzzy caterpillar in a cloth sack and wear it around your neck. Place a piece of iron under your doorstep to keep witches away.

Peace, it's wonderful, but it is so hard to find now that, surveys show, more than 25 percent of American adults take some kind of tranquilizing drug.

US Consulate Stoned By Turkish Mobs

ISTANBUL, Turkey (AP) — Angry mobs shattered windows of the U. S. consulate, damaged American cars and destroyed a night club early this morning in the southern Turkish city of Adana after eight U. S. servicemen allegedly accosted Turkish women leaving a movie house, press reports said today.

The reports gave this account:

The servicemen, from the Strategic Air Command base at Incirlik, near Adana, took refuge in a nearby night club. An angry crowd gathered shouting anti-American slogans and demanding that the Americans be handed over to them.

Police took the men to a police station for protection. The mob shattered the windows of the police station, then about 50 young persons marched to the U. S. consulate. They damaged American cars on the way.

They stoned the consulate and damaged cars parked in front of the building. A spokesman for the consulate said some windows were broken, but no one was hurt.

Police finally called troops to disperse the mob. American military authorities invited U. S. servicemen and their dependents living in the town to take refuge on the base.

Under Psychiatric Care

Bizarre Story Unravels In Latest Mass Killing

MESA, Ariz. (AP) — A quite young man who felt nobody cared for him was under psychiatric care today, after the pistol killing of four women and a little girl because he "wanted to see the headlines with my name in them before I die."

Robert Benjamin Smith, 18, who told police his violent outburst Saturday morning in a local beauty college was inspired by recent mass killings in Chicago and Austin, Tex., remained in Maricopa County jail, scheduled for intensive psychiatric study and treatment before his Dec. 15 preliminary hearing on five counts of murder.

Mesa police continued to fill in missing pieces of the youth's bizarre explanation for the slaying of strangers. A justice of the peace hoped to impanel a coroner's jury today.

The dead were patrons or employees of the Rose-Mar College of Beauty, where Smith ordered five women and two children to lie in a circle on the floor, heads together, then walked around the circle, laughing and firing repeatedly with a .22 pistol at the backs of their heads.

Dead are Joyce Sellers, 27, a customer and the wife of an elder of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints (Mormon), the dominant religion in this city of 50,000; Deborah Sellers, 3, her daughter; Mary Margaret Olsen, 18, beauty college student and fiancée of Mrs. Sellers' brother-in-law; Glenda Carter, 18, also a student beautician; and Carol Farmer, 19, a customer and wife of an Air Force man stationed in Alaska.

The two survivors are Bonita Sue Harris, 18, a third student beautician, who suffered head and arm wounds, and Tamara Lynn Sellers, 3-month-old daughter of Mrs. Sellers. Tamara, victim of a minor arm wound and a skull fracture, was found sobbing under her mother's body. Both Miss Harris and Tamara were reported in satisfactory condition.

Police said Smith, described by schoolmates as "a loner" and a "strange and different" boy, offered no resistance when police burst into the shop. Told of his right to remain silent, officers said, the youth nonetheless

The spokesman said the demonstrations were "scattered incidents." He said he knew nothing of how the incidents started.

Kidnaping Ends In Happy Return of Child

DENVER, Colo. (AP) — A 41-hour search by police and FBI agents for a kidnaped baby ended happily Sunday with the safe return of the 3-day-old child to his parents.

The husky son of Mr. and Mrs. William Bacon of Denver was abducted early Saturday morning from a fourth-floor nursery at Colorado General Hospital.

Police are holding Susan Douglas, 29, of Denver, for investigation of kidnaping. Detective Jack Groginsky said the woman, after being advised of her rights, admitted taking the child.

No charges have been filed. Police will discuss the case with Denver Dist. Atty. Bert Keating today.

Bacon, 29, and his wife, Rebecca, were overjoyed with the return of their son. Hospital physicians said the 9-pound, 13-ounce baby was in good condition, but had "a touch of a cold."

Detective Dick Rennick attributed the discovery of the child to "good old legwork." Investigators pored through nearly 700 trip tickets from taxi companies before they found one that indicated a trip was made from the hospital area about the time the baby was missed.

Scott Werner, agent in charge of the Denver office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, said Mrs. Douglas apparently
